

Lincoln Service and Texas Eagle Service Changes Between Chicago and St. Louis

Effective on September 21 and 22, 2015

As Union Pacific Railroad continues work to bring 110 mph speeds to the Lincoln Service, track and signal upgrades will affect Amtrak service on Monday and Tuesday, September 21 and 22.

Lincoln Service

- Train 300 will be cancelled, and alternate service will not be provided. Passengers can make reservations aboard other Lincoln Service trains or the alternate bus services shown below.
- Trains 301, 302 and 303 will be cancelled, and bus service will be provided at all stations on the route

Texas Eagle Service

- Southbound Train 21/421 will detour between Chicago and St. Louis on September 21 and 22, and will not stop at any intermediate stations. Alternate transportation will not be provided. At St. Louis, the train will resume its normal schedule to Los Angeles.
- Northbound Train 22/422 will operate as scheduled to St. Louis. On September 21 and 22, the train will detour between St. Louis and Chicago, and will not stop at any intermediate stations. Passengers on Train 22/422 destined for Chicago will remain on the train. Passengers on Train 22/422 traveling to stations between St. Louis and Chicago will get off the train in St. Louis and board a bus to their destination. Note: The bus will only stop to discharge passengers.
- Trains 321 and 322 will be cancelled on September 21 and 22. Passengers may make reservations on Lincoln Service bus/train services referenced above.
- Possible Delays: Trains traveling through the work area may encounter delays of up to 45 minutes.
